NEWSLETTER FOR ALUMNI
& FRIENDS

Happy 2025,

As we move into this year, we are reminded of the times students faced unknown whitewater, hills that seemed to keep going, and those times faculty or teammates supported each other on a new climbing route. Our students learned to navigate the unknown, overcome fears, and rely on their communication, teamwork, and resilience to keep moving forward. These lessons continue to shape not only our graduates but our entire college as well.

Looking ahead, we know we'll face new challenges, yet we're confident in our preparation—aware that surprises will inevitably come. We are deeply grateful to our alumni, friends, and parents whose year-end gifts have helped equip us for what lies ahead. Your support means the world to us.

We love hearing the stories of triumphs and challenges from our alumni. As you embrace 2025, we encourage you to reconnect with fellow alumni, reach out to our alumni office, and join us at local events that bring together alumni and students in your area. The positive feedback from recent gatherings has been truly inspiring, and we're excited to see this momentum grow.

I am thrilled to introduce Aaron Wilson, who will reach out to alumni in the year ahead. While Julie Munro and Marie Smith's contributions will be hard to match, Aaron's efforts, with your support, will elevate our alumni connections as we gear up for an exciting

January 2025

2026—our 60th anniversary year! If you have ideas or thoughts on how we can make our 60th year unforgettable, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Here's to a year of growth, happiness, and new adventures.

Happy Trails,
Jane Ratzlaff and the Advancement Team

FreeWill and Ringing in the New Year

As we enter 2025 in the breathtaking natural setting of Northern Arizona, it is a constant reminder of our collective purpose: to work together to challenge the status quo, find innovative solutions to tomorrow's problems, and make a long-lasting impact on social justice and environmental sustainability. In that spirit, I'm sharing an act of care that allows us to grow while making a difference along the way: creating your will. We've partnered with FreeWill to help you write your will in as little as 20 minutes, free of charge.

If you choose to include a gift to Prescott College in your will, you build a legacy that creates interdisciplinary, experiential, and diverse learning environments that inspire future leaders for generations to come. For more information, contact Jane Ratzlaff.

Harness my willpower

December Match --- Thank you

Tony Ebarb '09 and Liisa Raikonnin '84, who provided a December match for our year-end campaign, are delighted that alumni stepped up to maximize their pledge. We are truly grateful for their match and everyone who came forth and accepted the challenge. We have met their match and see this as a significant assistance for Prescott College to continue to provide a meaningful journey for all that will benefit from your generosity. Thank you.

Canoes Donations Needed and Appreciated

In a recent warehouse equipment intake, Kathy Young '85, Prescott College Field Equipment Warehouse Manager, asked us to share the school's need for some "new" canoes. Our current canoes are getting old and beaten up from past journeys, so they must be replaced this year. We hope to attain at least 8 to 10 canoes, about $1,500 each.

We are preparing them for block one on their San Juan River Trip and would appreciate any canoe donations. Please email Kathy Young for further inquiries. Thank you.

Cycling Team Name Announcement

We are still accepting donations to launch our new and exciting cycling club at Prescott College. This activity will attract additional students and embody the active spirit of our College.

We'd also love to take this opportunity to announce the name of our cycling team: The Prescott College Roadrunners.

Prescott College would be in the Southwest Cycling Conference, allowing incoming students to participate in nationally sanctioned collegiate events through the USA Cycling organization.

Our goal is to raise $30,000 toward a coach, equipment, and uniforms to kick off this program. For more information, contact Jane Ratzlaff.

More information with logos and visuals will be available soon. Thank you for all your support of our new team.

Former Prescott College Faculty Member Alan Weisman's Book release

Alan's book "Hope Dies Last: Visionary People Across the World Fighting to Find Us a Future" will be released on Earth Day, April 22. Alan writes, "I was faculty from 1975-1987 in the Humanities and Southwest Studies programs, teaching writing and U.S. Mexico studies, and I was one of the founders of what today is the Kino Bay Center. In my latest book, Hope Dies Last, Prescott College alums figure prominently in two chapters with ample description of their academic provenance, and there's a scene set at the Center in Kino." More information will be coming soon.

Prescott College Faculty Members Meitamei Olo Dapash and Mary Poole Book Signing Tour

Meitamei and Mary's recent publication, "Decolonizing Maasai History: A Path to Indigenous African Futures," is set to launch this month. In honor of its release, Prescott College and President Barbara Morris are hosting a book launch and celebration on January 20. Following the book launch, they will go on a book signing tour in New Jersey and New York (more information below).

In this book, they discuss a groundbreaking approach to writing the history of an Indigenous East African community by prioritizing their own historical knowledge and cultural insights. It explores the detrimental effects of a colonized historical narrative on Maasailand and highlights how a decolonized perspective can fuel land justice movements. By adopting a Maasai viewpoint, the book challenges prevailing narratives in African history and reveals the untold stories of colonial violence, the myths surrounding Kenyan independence, and the ongoing neocolonial exploitation of Maasailand. It argues that Maasai pastoralism, which respects the rights of nature and wildlife, opposes capitalist land and resource exploitation, shaping current conflicts over Maasai identity and self-representation. You can purchase and read a copy here.

Kino Bay Marine Conservation Classes

Prescott College students had the unique opportunity the previous semester to dive deep into the complexities of marine conservation in the Gulf of California at the Kino Bay Center. After studying marine conservation theory in Arizona, the class, led by alumnus Greg Smart, delved into community-based case studies. They engaged with local fishers, learned different fishing techniques, and discussed their observations with resource users, researchers, and managers. They visited a shrimp farm, took a trip aboard a shrimp trawler, visited the island of San Pedro Martir and participated in a mangrove reforestation project, among other immersive experiences, all while exploring the delicate balance between marine conservation and community livelihoods. In the next phase of the class they worked with Lorayne and Kino Bay Center program staff to do applied conservation projects that contribute to the Kino Bay Center's work. Read more about their final projects here.
